

Constance Robinson

Connie Robinson, a partner of Kilpatrick Stockton LLP in its Washington, D.C. office and a member of the Executive Committee, focuses her practice on domestic and international antitrust matters, including counseling, agency representations, corporate internal investigations and litigation. She joined the Firm in September 2003 after a distinguished 27-year career at the U.S. Department of Justice's Antitrust Division, where she held the highest career positions as Director of Operations and Director of Civil Enforcement, as well as Chief of the Communications and Finance Section and Director of the AT&T Judgment Enforcement Task Force. She was the recipient of the Presidential Rank Award of Distinguished Executives, the highest award achievable in civil service. Ms. Robinson has substantial experience analyzing mergers and handling merger investigations and cases for a wide range of regulated and unregulated industries, including fashioning remedies to permit a transaction to be closed while mitigating competitive concerns. She also has substantial experience with civil conduct antitrust investigations and related matters, such as companies' failure to abide by merger regulations and enforcement of government injunctions, and with criminal investigations.

Ms. Robinson has lectured, taught, and written about merger law and procedures and the conduct of merger investigations in the United States, the European Union, and numerous countries around the world.

She is a member of the American Bar Association's Section of Antitrust Law, and has served as Chair of the Criminal Practice and Procedure Committee and as Vice Chair of the Financial Services Committee. Ms. Robinson earned her J.D. in 1976 from The American University, and her B.S. from Northeastern University. She is admitted to the bars of the District of Columbia, the D.C. Circuit, and the U.S. Supreme Court.
