

Geraldine M. Alexis is co-chair of Bingham McCutchen's Antitrust and Trade Regulation Practice Group. She represents clients before the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission and state antitrust enforcement agencies in mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures and other government antitrust investigations, with an emphasis on obtaining accelerated clearances from the relevant government agency. She has conducted several bench and jury trials and handled some very high-profile merger cases. Ms. Alexis also counsels numerous companies on the antitrust aspects of IP licenses, joint ventures, distributor contracts and other transactions.

From 1979 to 1981, Ms. Alexis served an attorney-advisor in the Office of Legal Counsel, United States Department of Justice, where she received a special commendation for outstanding service.

Admissions, Courts and Memberships

- Member, State Bar of California
- Member, State Bar of Illinois
- Co-Chair, Financial Services Committee, ABA Antitrust Section

Education

- Northwestern University School of Law, Juris Doctor, cum laude, 1976
- Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University, Master of Business Administration, with distinction, 1976
- University of Rochester, Bachelor of Arts, magna cum laude, 1971