

What Employers Seek in a Business Law Lawyer

Solid grounding in traditional commercial law, a firm grasp of business practices, and some understanding of the technology.

- Amelia H. Boss teaches e-commerce, international business transactions, and commercial law in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Good understanding of general business concepts, accounting, banking and finance.

- Jawad I. Ali practices corporate and finance law in New York, New York.

Detail oriented, ability to multi-task, and strong time management skills.

- Cathleen A. Booth focuses on mergers and acquisitions and securities law in Chicago, Illinois.

Good legal skills accompanied by a good business sense.

- Harold S. Barron practices corporate law in Chicago, Illinois.

Core competence in corporate law, and working knowledge of certain other areas. Ability to get along with people and negotiate. Drafting skills, working knowledge of certain accounting concepts. Ability to work as a team with many legal specialists.

- Nathaniel L. Doliner practices mergers and acquisitions and corporate law in Tampa, Florida.

Excellent written and oral skills.

- Joan M. Haratani's practice includes business litigation in San Francisco, California.

ABA Career Resource Center: www.abanet.org/careercounsel
ABA Section of Business Law: www.abanet.org/buslaw

