Mr. Laclau also worked as an international intern at Fulbright & Jaworski LLP in Houston, U.S.A. (2005-2006).

Experience

Sergio has extensive experience in M&A and in infra-structure projects and has given advice in general corporate, administrative law, regulatory and environmental issues to both Brazilian and foreign clients. Sergio has been involved in several hydroelectric generation projects, having participated in virtually all major recent hydroelectric projects in Brazil (between acquisitions and greenfield projects), including Estreito (1067 MW), Campos Novos (880 MW), Barra Grande (690 MW), Itaocara (195 MW), Foz do Chapecó (840 MW), Serra do Facão (210 MW), Simplício (323,7 MW), Candonga (140 MW) hydro power generation projects (greenfield projects), either as counsel to one of the investors, to the consortium formed by the investors or to the EPC Contractors (Candonga). In these projects, he gave advice in connection with the bids for the concessions, environmental issues, regulatory issues and concession contracts, EPC term sheets and contracts, and other relevant project documentation.
