

Saturday, March 25, 2006

9:00-10:00 a.m.

Plenary Session III The Future of Legal Education

Effective planning for future building and technology design begins with an eye to the future of legal education.

Kellye Y. Testy, Dean and Professor of Law, Seattle University School of Law.

10:15-11:30 a.m.

G-1: Repurposing Law School & Library Space: Renovating in a Finite World
Renovation of existing law school space may be required to create physical facilities that will support new law school programs.

Jan Fleckenstein, Associate Director & Head of Library Information Systems, Syracuse University College of Law.
Thomas R. French, Director & Associate Professor, Syracuse University College of Law, H. Douglas Barclay Law Library.
S. Blair Kaufman, Director of Law Library and Professor of Law, Yale Law School, Lillian Goldman Library.

G-2: Law School Design: The Inspiration for Sullivan Hall

[Repeated Saturday, 2:15-3:30 p.m.]
A building tour follows a discussion on the design inspiration behind Sullivan Hall, home of the Seattle University School of Law.

Scott Allen, Olson Sundberg Kundig Allen Architects.

Rick Sundberg, Olson Sundberg Kundig Allen Architects.

G-3: Student-Centric Law School Design

Panelists discuss design solutions for keeping students happy.

Mark Maves, AIA, Sr. Principal, Smith Group.

Joan Vorrasi, Director of Student Life & Special Events, Columbus School of Law Catholic University of America.

G-4: Planning Your Specs and Communicating with Your Architect: How to Say What You Want and Get What You Say

Saturday Programs Take Place at Seattle University School of Law

This practical session will help you plan, prepare and build a specifications list.

Margaret L. Christiansen, Esq., Assistant Director, Regent University.
Stuart H. Lobel, CID, ASID, Hardwicke Associates, Inc.

12:45-2:00 p.m.

H-1: See Me, Hear Me: Lighting and Acoustics in Library Space

This review of major lighting and acoustical issues will include questions to ask when reviewing architectural plans.

Jeffrey A. Scherer, FAIA, Meyer, Scherer & Rockcastle, Ltd., Architecture & Interior Design.

H-2: Sullivan Hall Classroom Technology

This session will demonstrate classroom technology in Sullivan Hall and how it supports the academic mission of the law school.

Stephanie Zimmerman, Associate Director Media Services, School of Law, Sullivan Hall, Seattle University.

H-3: A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to New Quarters: Temporary Space Options

The panelists will discuss the pros and cons of moving off campus or staying in place during a renovation.

Arthur (Rick) Donnelly, Associate Director, Lawton Chiles Legal Information Center Fredric G. Levin College of Law, University of Florida.

Howie Ferguson, Facilities Planning, University of Florida.

Richard A. Leiter, Director, Library and Professor, University of Nebraska College of Law.

H-4: Building Design: Adapting to Programmatic Changes

Program presenters will discuss the specific physical renovations that have occurred to Sullivan Hall in the past six years.

Richard Bird, Associate Dean for Finance & Administration, Seattle University School of Law.

John Kennedy, Olson Sundberg Kundig Allen Architects.

Rick Sundberg, Olson Sundberg Kundig Allen Architects.

2:15-3:30 p.m.

I-1: The Law School Clinic Modeled After a Law Firm

The benefits of a law school clinic modeled after a law firm will be reviewed.

Paul Holland, Assistant Professor of Law, Seattle University School of Law.

I-2: Student Roundtable

A Seattle University School of Law student leader panel talks about how a law school building supports students' academic experience.

Richard Bird, Associate Dean for Finance & Administration, Seattle University.

I-3: Workplace/Workspace: Design Considerations for Staff Organizational Effectiveness

The basic concepts of workspace planning for knowledge workers will be debated.

Richard M. Jost, Assistant Librarian for Technical Services, University of Washington Gallagher Law Library.

A. Robert Menanteaux, Information Services Librarian, Seattle University Law Library.

I-4: Courtroom Design to meet Educational Objectives

This program looks at how a law school courtroom can meet multiple functions.

John Strait, Associate Professor of Law, Seattle University School of Law.

I-5: Law School Design: The Inspiration for Sullivan Hall

[Repeated Saturday, 10:15-11:30 a.m.]
A building tour follows a discussion on the design inspiration behind Sullivan Hall, home of the Seattle University School of Law.

Scott Allen, Olson Sundberg Kundig Allen Architects.

Rick Sundberg, Olson Sundberg Kundig Allen Architects.

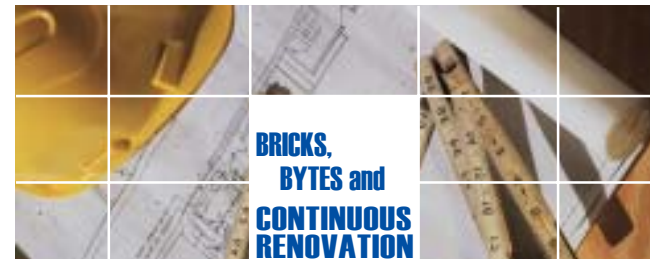

I-6: Communication Technology

The in-house communication system at Seattle University School of Law will be reviewed.

James Cooper, Director Technology, Seattle University.

ABA Facilities Conference

March 23 - 25, 2006
Seattle, Washington

Thursday, March 23, 2006

12:15-1:30 p.m.

Plenary Session I

Careful What You Dream

A look at how the design team can work with the client to understand the dream when constructing or renovating a law school?

Edward Tsoi, Senior Principal, Tsoi/Kabus and Associates.

1:45-3:00 p.m.

A-1: Classroom Design and Construction

The ideal law school classroom and the technology it needs to function will be discussed.

Richard A. Danner, Senior Associate Dean for Information Services, Duke University.
Thomas B. Metzloff, Professor of Law, Duke University.

A-2: All Points Are Not Created Equal: A Pragmatic Approach to Sustainability

A "high performance builder" with higher education experience examines the initial decision to seek LEEDS or an alternative green certification.

Andrew C. Yantis, Jr., Senior Vice President for Operations, Holder Construction Company.

A-3: Place of Art in Law School Design

This session discusses the acquisition and placement of art in new and renovated law schools.

Rudolph C. Hasl, Dean & President, Thomas Jefferson School of Law.

A-4: Build It Right and They Will Come: The Librarian's Role in Library Construction

Identifies the major responsibilities a law librarian or academic administrative leader might assume in a library construction or renovation project.

Virginia Kelsb, Professor Emerita, University of San Francisco.

A-5: The Faculty Role in Planning New Facilities—Must There Be a Wet Bar and a Fireplace in Every Faculty Office?

A lively discussion of the role of faculty members on the building design team.

William R. Andersen, Professor Emeritus, University of Washington.
Eric Chiappinelli, Associate Dean for Alumni and Professional Relations, Seattle University School of Law.

3:30-4:45 p.m.

B-1: Interior Design—In House or Independent?

Selection of an interior design specialist to coordinate the finishing touches of a construction project is covered.

Rudolph C. Hasl, Dean & President, Thomas Jefferson School of Law.

B-2: Building Technology

[repeated Friday, 12:45-2:00 p.m.]
This session focuses on infrastructure technologies necessary for law schools.

Pablo G. Molina, Chief Information Officer, Georgetown University Law Center.
Tom Delaney, Associate Dean for Information and Technology & Chief Information Officer, NYU School of Law.

B-3: Working with the University's Strategic Plan

Use of master facility plans by university administrators guiding the location and priorities of projects.

Mike Barber, AIA, Senior Associate, Ayers/Saint/Gross.

Roger J. Dennis, Provost, Rutgers University – Camden.

Kyu-Jung Whang, Vice President Facilities and Capital Planning, Rutgers University.

B-4: Distance Education and the Implications for Physical Facilities

Distance Education requirements for law schools physical design and technology will be the topic.

Stephen Burnett, Associate Dean for Business Development, Concord Law School.

Barry A. Currier, Dean, Concord Law School.

Steve H. Nickles, C. C. Hope Chair of Financial Services and Law, Wake Forest University School of Law.

B-5: Aligning Strategic Planning and Facility Planning

This program explains why architects must understand school's history and direction.

Thursday and Friday Programs Take Place at the University of Washington School of Law

Wallace J. Mlyniec, Professor, Georgetown University Law Center.
Carole Wedge, Architect, Shepley Bulfinch Richardson and Abbott.

B-6: Green Buildings, ex post facto: Looking Back into the Future

This discussion focuses on the design and operation of Wood Hall at Lewis & Clark Law School, a green building.

Tami Gierloff, Assistant Dean and Associate Director, Lewis & Clark Law School.
Jon H. Wiener, Principal AIA, SRG Partnership.

Friday, March 24, 2006

9:00-10:00 a.m.

Plenary Session II

Library as Place in the Legal Academy
Evaluates the current "book-centered" design models and ways library space can be used to further invigorate the intellectual life of the legal academy.

Janis L. Johnston, Director, Associate Professor of Law, University of Illinois.

10:15-11:30 a.m.

C-1: Good Needs Assessment: Great Library Program—Getting It All Together
The speakers will offer advice on how to prepare useful documents that will result in a successful library design

Lee Coyle, AIA, Vice President, Cannon Design, Mid Atlantic Region.
Stephen Margeton, Professor and Library Director, Catholic University of America.

C-2: Workshop on Financing Building Projects at a Public Law School

This workshop will explore the many issues of securing financing for public law school construction projects.

John Meyer, Vice Chancellor for Resource Management, University of California, Davis.

Rex R. Perschbacher, Dean, UC Davis School of Law.

C-3: The Pleasures and Pitfalls of Classroom Design

A close look at classroom design and the integration of technology in Wm. Gates Hall.

This session will also feature a tour of the law school.

Jonathan Franklin, Associate Law Librarian, University of Washington.

Penny A. Hazelton, Associate Dean for Library and Computing Services, University of Washington School of Law.

C-4: Student Computing

This session discusses student computing and other media services.

Pablo G. Molina, Chief Information Officer, Georgetown University.

Patricia Donnelly, CIO and Director, Boalt Law School.

Susan Monsen, Director of Computer Services, Yale Law School.

12:45-2:00 p.m.

D-1: University of Washington Clinics Workspace Design

A look at the working law office within the Law School, the suite of the Clinical Law Program.

Alan Kirtley, Director of Clinics, University of Washington School of Law.

D-2: Students First: Student Spaces at the UW Law School

Students' space at U. Washington is under a microscope in this discussion and tour.

Mohamed Rali Badissy, 3L, University of Washington School of Law.

Penny A. Hazelton, Professor and Associate Dean for Library and Computing Services, University of Washington School of Law.

D-3: Telling the Law School's Story—with a Little Help from Friends and Donors

This discussion will focus on encouraging and recognizing donors for building fund campaigns.

Kathie Price, Associate Dean for Library and Technology, University of Florida.

Thomas A. Morrison, Senior Associate Dean, George Washington University.

Patrick Shannon, Associate Dean, Administrative Affairs and Lecturer, University of Florida.

Robin E. Williams, Principal Consultant, Robin E. Williams, Incorporated.

D-4: Building Security and Safety as a "Starting Point"

This program examines building and equipment security.

Michael Sletten, Director, Public Safety and Transportation, Seattle University.

D-5: Building Technology

[repeated Thursday, 3:30-4:45 p.m.]
This session focuses on infrastructure technologies necessary for new buildings.

Pablo G. Molina, Chief Information Officer, Georgetown University.

Tom Delaney, Associate Dean for Information and Technology & Chief Information Officer, NYU School of Law.

2:30-3:45 p.m.

E-1: Paradigms Lost: Thinking about Library Space in an Evolving Information Environment

Technology, digitization, ABA standards, changing student and faculty demographics, and new research and curricular agendas have all coalesced to create a perfect storm for design change of academic law libraries.

Donna Barry, Design Principal, Gould Evans Associates.

Michael Chiorazzi, Professor of Law, University of Arizona.

Dick Danner, Senior Associate Dean for Information Services, Duke University.
Trudi Hummel, AIA, Principal, Gould Evans Associates.

E-2: Selecting Furnishings

Furniture design will be discussed in depth.

Richard A. Leiter, Director, Library and Professor, University of Nebraska College of Law.

George Pike, Director, Library and Professor, University of Pittsburgh.

Maria Zawadsky, H2Z Design, LLC.

E-3: What You Have Always Wanted to Know about Parking Structures

This session reviews the many factors to consider in developing parking facilities.

Samuel (Sandy) J. Kahn, Kent Holdings & Enterprises

E-4: Workshop on Financing Building Projects at a Private Law School

This workshop will explore the many issues of securing financing for private law school projects.

Denis Ransmeier, Vice President, Lewis & Clark College.
Steven R. Smith, President and Dean, California Western School of Law.

E-5: Current Issues under the Americans with Disabilities Act and Other Statutes
Identifying current ADA compliance issues and the use of technology will be covered in this session.

Laura Rothstein, Professor, University of Louisville.

4:00-5:15 p.m.

F-1: Like Coffee and Seattle: How User and Collection Spaces Work Together

Two law librarians explore the inevitable tensions between user and collection spaces.

Kristin Cheney, Executive Law Librarian, Seattle University Law Library.

Penny A. Hazelton, Professor, Associate Dean, University of Washington.

F-2: The Responsibilities of the Owner's Representative in Managing a Construction Project

This lively discussion will focus on the relationship among the owner, the architect, and the contractor during construction.

Jonathan Franklin, Associate Law Librarian, University of Washington.
James Hambleton, Associate Dean, Texas Wesleyan University School of Law.

F-3: Law Schools as Social Venues

Program covers the landscape of designing spaces that must serve as venues for both educational purposes and social events.

Mark Maves, AIA, Sr. Principal, Smith Group.

Joan Vorrasi, Director of Student Life & Special Events, Catholic University of America.

