

Standards for the Custody, Placement and Care; Legal Representation; and Adjudication of Unaccompanied Alien Children in the United States

From the American Bar Association Commission on Immigration

The ABA Commission on Immigration is pleased to offer Standards for the Custody, Placement and Care; Legal Representation; and Adjudication of Unaccompanied Alien Children in the United States. The Standards address several topics including access to counsel, child-appropriate courtroom settings and interviewing techniques, training for lawyers and adjudicators, custody placement decisions, detention conditions and safety, interpretation and translation, educational and health care services, phone and visitation rights, and religious freedom for children while in federal custody. The Standards are intended to serve as guiding principles as well as a practical resource for those with responsibilities toward unaccompanied minors.
