

Health Care for Immigration Detainees: What Should Be The Standard?

A Free CLE Program Presented by the
Commission on Immigration
Criminal Justice Section
Commission on Domestic Violence
Section of International Law
Commission on Mental and Physical Disability Law
Standing Committee on Legal Aid and Indigent Defendants

Date: Friday, February 13, 2009
Time: 2:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Location: Hynes Convention Center Room 208
Boston, MA

An increasing number of immigrants find their way into detention facilities as the use of detention has grown in recent years. The ABA helped to negotiate national detention standards with the Department of Justice and former Immigration & Naturalization Service that provide for some medical care for detainees; Immigration & Customs Enforcement (ICE) recently released revised standards. This panel will address issues related to detainee medical care and the adequacy, implementation, and enforceability of medical standards. Panelists will explore the critical role health care professionals play in ensuring successful service delivery, and equip lawyers with a more in-depth understanding of the detainee health care system in order to more effectively assist their individual or institutional clients.

Confirmed Panelists:

Robert Juceam, Fried Frank Harris, Shriver & Jacobson LLP, New York, NY, Moderator
Dr. Homer Venters, Attending Physician & Public Health Fellow, Bellevue/NYU Program for Survivors of Torture, New York, NY
Laura Rotolo, Staff Attorney, American Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts, Boston, MA
Megan Mack, Associate Director, ABA Commission on Immigration, Washington, DC

****

For more information, or to RSVP for this free program, please contact Anne Schaufeale at schaufeale@staff.abanet.org or 202-662-1005.